

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

May 22, 2006

The British Second Wives Club to raise money for Breakthrough Breast Cancer.

'The Second Wives Club' by Jane Moore has just been released and there is much publicity with adverts and posters for the book in many places, in magazines and on television.

The front cover of 'The Second Wives Club' by Jane Moore shows a very nice pair of red Gina 'Gloss Python' Size 7 shoes. These actual shoes have been donated by Jane Moore to The British Second Wives Club, together with a letter of authenticity from Jane Moore herself, plus a copy of The Second Wives Club, personally signed by Jane Moore.

The BSWC is currently running an auction on eBay which is being run in conjunction with Jane Moore and Breakthrough Breast Cancer. All proceeds raised by the auction will be donated to Breakthrough Breast Cancer.

Linda Robertson, the founder of The British Second Wives Club said:

"We would like to thank Jane Moore for donating the shoes and the book to The BSWC. We hope to raise as much money as possible for breast cancer research through the auction, whilst at the same time raising awareness of the plight of second wives. We wish Jane all the very best with her book."

<http://www.thebritishsecondwivesclub.co.uk>